

The Two Truths
of Reality

“Knowing and applying the distinctions of the two truths—subjectivities and objectivities—will determine the genuine peace or the habitual pattern of destructiveness within oneself, towards others and relating to the world.”

—Geshe Jamyang Tsultrim

FIRST THURSDAY TALK

The Nalanda Institute invites you to attend a talk the first Thursday of the month with Geshe Jamyang Tsultrim. A buddhist scholar and teacher for over 30 years, he inspires mind and heart with the dharma.

On the First Thursday of September Geshe Tsultrim will talk on the nature of reality from the views of the four major lineages of buddhist schools of thought: Sakya, Kagyu, Ningma, and Geluk. Is truth simply subjective or objective? Combined? Or, neither of these views?

This is a public talk and open to all who wish to attend.
